Dana Point is rich in surfing history, which is why the Surfing Heritage Foundation has identified Dana Point as the ideal location for its “Smithsonian of Surfing” museum “to preserve and showcase surfing’s heritage for future generations.” The City of Dana Point and Surfing Museum Task Force will hold two Town Hall meetings to discuss the vision for a Surfing Heritage Museum, share information on a potential museum at Sea Terrace Park and receive comments from the public. The same information will be presented at both meetings.
